County Approves Property Deal For Gas Station Here Over School, Citizen Protest

County board of supervisors Tuesday approved an exchange of easements on Hillside boulevard which paves the way for construction of a gas station at the Market street intersection.

Resolution by Daly City to postpone the matter one month was not considered.

The supervisors moved to adopt the recommendation made earlier by the county planners.

Under transaction approved by the board, the county will relinquish its easements at Market and Hillside for a long, narrow strip fronting on Hillside.

Rose Gioldi, owner of the land at the southwest corner of the intersection, sought the technical exchange of property. She has been negotiating with Union Oil Co. for sale of the land and it is expected the transaction will be completed now that the transfer of easements has been approved.

Can't Deny Permit

While the supervisors' action Tuesday did not constitute approval of the gas station, the county cannot deny permit for the business, since the land is zoned commercial.

A tempestuous city council session on the topic developed Monday night as Don Lesher, president of Hillside Homeowners Improvement association, Rieco Lagomarsino, local realtor, and other citizens appeared to plead with the council to enter a formal protest against the property ex-

CITY TO WITHDRAW FROM TAX DISTRICTS

Daly City council Monday night voted to withdraw from two special assessment districts which were costing the city's taxpayers as much as $10,000 a year, for which they received absolutely no benefits.

As a result, Broadmoor and Colma residents will pay a higher price for lighting and fire services next year.

Investigation by City Manager Howard Stites on request by Councilman Del Wilson disclosed that the city was still a part of the Colma Lighting and Colma Fire districts, which long ago ceased to serve Daly City.

Much of Daly City is included in the districts, and almost all of the Westlake area is within the boundaries of the Colma lighting district.

Was Unincorporated

This came about because a sizeable portion of what is now Daly City was formerly unincorporated. However, when the land was annexed to Daly City, the steps were never taken to remove the property from the special assessment districts.

Stites revealed that 43 per cent of the assessed valuation of the lighting district was within the boundaries of Daly City.

His figures showed that the district's total valuation was $24,563,630, while $10,746,800 of this lies within Daly City boundaries.

Of the lighting district's total 1955-56 revenue of $17,195, raised on a 7 cent per $100 valuation tax, $7523 comes from Daly City taxpayers.

A Westlake homeowner whose dwelling is assesed at $3000 will pay $2.10 this year to support the

DC Minister Files Claim With City For Auto Repair Costs

Claims for $47.83 against the city of Daly City presented by a local minister for car repair bills was pronounced invalid by the city council Monday night. The council denied the claim because they said it did not fall under the city's jurisdiction, but rather under that of the Sanitation district.

The Reverend Fred L. Fanthorpe, 787 South Mayfair avenue, asked the payment because of damage to two right tires on his car. The minister charged that the damage was incurred when his car ran into a curb sewer at Alemany and Skyline on October 1.

In his claim, he stated that the "sewer cover was off and there was no light or barricade erected to warn any passerby."

The minister, who is with the Evangelical United Brethren church, continued that his service station discovered on October 22 that both tires were damaged

ANITA GAMARA of Daly City Cigar store phoned Daly City police with a very unusual report Saturday morning.

A dog walked into my store and fainted, said she.

Officer ROBERT CROOKER responded, where he observed dog wearing tight collar and in slightly ill condition. Collar was released. Dog departed.

Our guess is the canine was despondent over the dog leash ordinance going into effect next week and attempted to end it all.

SCHOOL, DOELGER STILL WRANGLE ON OFFICE LEASE

Jefferson Elementary School district and Henry Doelger, Builder, Inc., reached a stalemate Wednesday night in negotiations for leasing the new administration offices at 48 Park Plaza, Westlake Medical building.

Although the district has already occupied the quarters, trustees refuse to pay for a narrow corridor that is included in the office space.

Jack Kendree, Doelger representative, told the board that, "The hall is for your exclusive use. And you're only paying 16 cents a square foot, while every other tenant pays 35 cents a foot."

"You check your files," continued Kendree, "And you'll see where we agreed on a charge of 16 cents a foot."

"But it's my understanding," said Chairman Michael Callan, "That in most cases tenants don't pay for hallway space."

"They don't, when it's for public use," answered Kendree. "But this is for your exclusive use."

"I think you're trying to kid us with this 16 cent thing," said Callan.

"Nobody's kidding you and I say that seriously," answered Kendree.

Trustee Hartley Appleton suggested the matter be turned over to a dis-interested party for arbitration, while Callan said Weibel should meet with Kendree and work out a compromise, and the matter was closed for the time being.

Charge Auto Vendor With Grand Theft

A Daly City used car salesman, charged with absconding with $357.82 of company funds, was picked up in Los Angeles Tuesday by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents who wanted the salesman for violation of the selective service act. The FBI has agreed to waive their warrant in favor of that by the local police department, according to Inspector Bruno Conci.

Complaint of grand theft against the salesman, Jack Louis Trebony, 26, 1250 Vallejo street, San Francisco, was made by the owner of Vic's Auto Sales, 2450 Junipero Serra boulevard, Victor Brincat.

The owner charges that Trebony pocketed down payments on cars when left in charge of the lot while Brincat was on a week's

Bodien Has Several Health Center Sites, DC Council Is Told

County planning commissioner Arthur Bodien told the city council Monday night he had "several" sites in mind for a health center in the Daly City area.

Bodien first brought up the subject, asking the council what progress they had made in securing a site.

Councilman Micheal De Bernardi replied to Bodien, "We're glad to see the county planners so busy on this project. But Councilman Del Wilson has been on this a good year now. I think it's facetious of you to say what's wrong with the council."

"But the board of supervisors asked you to name a site three months ago," said Bodien.

"I understand the county welfare department has asked several people up here to look for sites," answered Councilman Wilson. "It seems like everybody is helping us find a site."

"Why don't you take your Daly City planning commission into your confidence so they could help you?" returned Bodien.

Wilson replied that "We have several sites, but we have problems and the main one is money to purchase the site. I think the county just wants to save itself some money."

Asked by Mayor Joseph Verducci if he knew of any available health center sites, Bodien said he knew of several and would reveal them to the council.

Arrest DC Woman On Dope Charge In SF

A 37-year-old Daly City woman is being held by San Francisco police on a charge of possessing heroin. Arrested Monday were Mrs. Eileen Silva, 37, 388 Hillside boulevard, and Joseph E. Spinosa, 52, of San Francisco.

The pair were arrested after Spinosa's car involved in a collision with an auto driven by a pursuing federal narcotics agent, who was injured in the accident.

LEASH LAW TO TAKE EFFECT ON THURSDAY

Leash up old Fido when you take him out for a walk.

That's the law.

On Thursday, November 17, Daly City's much debated dog leash ordinance goes into effect.

Briefly, here are the requirements of the new statute:

1. No dog will be allowed anywhere unless he is under the restraint of a leash or chain, except within the confines of a person's property.

2. Every dog three months old or over must be licensed.

3. Any dog, cat, fowl or other animal which howls, yells, barks, or other wise creates a disturbance or annoys any considerable number of people, is a public nuisance, and each day constitutes a separate offense.

4. It is unlawful to permit any animal to trespass on private or public property so as to damage or destroy any property.

5. Any person found guilty of violating the ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Maximum fine is $500 or six months in jail or both.

Charles Maschinot, poundmaster, said persons seeking further information may contact him at PL. 5-4212.

Hiring of DC Planning Consultant Is Proposed

City council, meeting Monday night with the planning commission, considered hiring a special planning consultant to help draft a master zoning plan.

The proposal to hire a consultant came up after councilmen had discussed ways to curb the influx of used car businesses here.

Councilman Micheal De Bernardi said the council should prevent new lots from coming in by adopting a master zoning plan.

He maintained the used auto businesses should be confined to a certain area.

Val Franz planning commission chairman, said limiting used car lot businesses in Daly City was "no problem. You don't need a zoning ordinance change. You can refuse a use permit."

City Attorney Frank Blum said to refuse a use permit for a man who had complied with the used car ordinance might be "arbitrary." He added, however, that the use permits could be denied if the council wished to establish a certain street as off-limits for the businesses, providing there weren't already some of the establishments on the street.

City Manager Howard Stites said, "We should define the character of use permissable in certain zones. This way a man could obtain a building permit immediately, without waiting for an official ruling from the planners or council."

Mayor Joseph Verducci concurred, and suggested that the

Sam Valentino, 49-year-old custodian, was dismissed from his city job last week by Recreation Director James Mason for "insubordination and his disturbing influence on other employees."

Mason said the firing of Valentino, who has been with the city for two years, came about as a result of the employee's refusal to carry out a job given him by the director.

Valentino lives at 327 Westlake avenue. His job consisted mainly of clean-up work at the community center.

NORTHGATE CITY IS SQUELCHED BY BOARD

Prospects of a "City of Northgate" dimmed considerably Friday when the county board of supervisors chopped off almost half the territory proposed for incorporation, leaving only Broadmoor and Garden Village as the county's potential 14th city.

In a 4-1 vote, the supervisors agreed to exclude all of Sterling Park, unincorporated Colma, and the large section of undeveloped property owned by builder Chris McKeon. The controversial Conti-Bocci strip, which Daly City seeks to annex, was also eliminated from the proposed city's boundaries.

Simultaneously, the board set January 24 as date for citizens of Broadmoor - Garden Village, to vote on whether they want to become city of Northgate. Balloting for councilmen, should the citizens vote to incorporate, will also be held at that time.

Half The Size

Under boundaries approved by supervisors, city of Northgate is now almost half its original size and includes only residential property. There is no undeveloped land for zoning as commercial or industrial, as was planned under the original boundaries.

Even the leader of the incorporation movement, Thomas Noonan of Sterling Park, said city of Northgate boundaries were "not feasible now."

Harry Brown, Broadmoor police commissioner who was active in the incorporation campaign, was undecided as to his group's next move. "We'll wait to hear from our attorney first. We'll go by what he recommends," he said.

Final Appeal

Antonio Gaudio, attorney for the Northgate group, made a final unsuccessful appeal before the county board yesterday to restore the original boundaries. The board met yesterday to formally adopt resolution setting date for election and establishing boundaries. This action could not be taken Friday because of the revision of the boundaries.

Asked what the prospects were for the city of Northgate as now defined, Gaudio said, "It's not a happy situation. If they incorpor-

Gas Explosion Hospitalizes Injured Victim

A 24-year-old shipping clerk is in critical condition at the French hospital following a gasoline explosion Wednesday night while he was cleaning his motorcycle with gasoline. Victim of the accident, Ellis Bennor, 24, 476 Hanover street, had been warned after a similar explosion a year ago to stop using gasoline for cleaning purposes, according to Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy.

Wednesday night's explosion apparently occurred when fumes from an open can of gasoline were ignited by a furnace pilot light in the basement garage. Besides second and third degree burns suffered by Bennor, the explosion also resulted in an $800 to $1200 fire, Kennedy stated.

First person to see Bennor's plight was a neighbor, Edward Holdener, 480 Hanover street, who rushed to the scene of the explosion. When firemen arrived Holdener and the victim's landlord, H. P. Raggio, were attempt-ton to quench the blaze with a garden hose.

Kennedy said that it took firemen about five or 10 minutes to put out the fire. Bennor was rushed to Alemany Emergency hospital and after first treatment, was transferred to the French hospital.

Bennor suffered no injuries in last year's similar incident, the chief declared. He added that the fire department made three checks of Bennor's basement in the latter

Val Franz To Leave Plan Commission

Val Franz, long-time member of Daly City's planning commission, relinquished his post as chairman Tuesday night and indicated he would leave the commission altogether as soon as a replacement was found.

George Pingry was unanimously appointed to take over Franz' job.

Franz said he had asked the city council to find a replacement because pressures of his own job did not allow him sufficient time to work on the commission.

In their only other action Tuesday, the commission considered preliminary plans for construction of a Mormon church at Hillside boulevard and Brunswick streets. Commissioners said the type of structure proposed apparently met zoning specifications.

Special meeting of the commission will be held November 22 to consider hiring of a planning consultant.

Rovegno Named New Colma Councilman

Andrew Rovegno, employee at Woodlawn cemetery, was appointed to serve the unexpired council term of Albert Lagomarsino at Wednesday's meeting of the Colma council.

Lagomarsino was named recently as Colma police chief. Rovegno's term will expire in 1958.

In other action Wednesday, the council considered appointment of several special police deputies.

Burglars Break Into Two DC Auto Companies

Burglars broke into two local automobile companies Sunday night but escaped with only a flashlight and 10 cents in pennies for their trouble.

Reporting the loss was Stewart Chevrolet company, 6565 Mission street, while representatives of Eljon Motors, 6674 Mission street, told officers that nothing was taken.

In both cases, entry was made by breaking a window.

OK PURCHASE OF $3000 ROLLER FOR DC STREET WORK

Purchase of a used 10-ton tandem roller for $3000 was approved by the city council Monday night.

City Manager Howard Stites said the entirely re-conditioned piece of equipment would cost from $7,000 to $14,000 new. It will be used in the street maintenance department.

Stites explained that no bids need be called on the item, although it cost over $2000, because it was customary not to advertise for bids on used equipment. He said it was too difficult to specify condition on used material, making uniform bidding impossible.

Council also discussed purchase of a $1600 spreader box.

In other action Monday, the council:

1. Approved used car lot at 6774 Mission street.

2. Approved changes in the minutes on action taken at three meetings.

3. Received bid of $5733.35 from Consolidated Western Steel for 500 lineal feet of corrugated metal pipe. Awarding of contract was held over pending report from Stites. Only one bid was entered.

4. Heard complaint from citizens on inadequate street lighting in Callan Heights area. Stites said the city was considering formation of special assessment districts to finance lighting, which already costs the city $50,000 a year.

Resolutions to apply for $1,450,000 state funds for construction of Vista Mar and Palisades (Skyline) schools was passed by Jefferson Elementary School district board of trustees Wednesday night.

The identical resolutions, one for Vista Mar and one for Palisades school, said "there is an urgent need for construction and amount of money available for such construction is none."

Business Manager David Shapiro said $1,450,000 was the maximum available to the district under Chapter 19 funds.

In other action Wednesday, the board:

1. Voted not to select special citizens committees to work on school problems, deciding instead to acknowledge the committees and let them work on their own. In a 3-1 vote (Trustee Hartley Appleton favoring the appointment of committees), the board said they would give serious consideration to any information compiled by the special citizen groups. Correspondence from Mrs. W. H. Beck, R. H. Merritt, Mrs. Elsie Berg and Mrs. Edwin Macklin of the committee for elimination of double sessions indicated these persons were interested in offering their services to the district for special research projects.

"Penalty Clause"

2. Discussed adoption of a "penalty clause" in teacher contracts which would provide some punitive action for teachers who resign during mid-year. The topic came up with receipt of letter of resignation from Ruth Padfield. Appleton said, "It's this type of thing that causes problems in our classrooms. The children are the ones that suffer." Superintendent H. Z. Weibel cautioned the board, "That in this day of teacher shortages they can almost come and go as they please. If the district adopts a penalty clause, I think personally it will create an unfavorable im-

League For Better Schools Plans Vote For Wednesday Nite

The League for Better Schools will hold its annual meeting for the election of officers at 8 p.m. next Wednesday in the Little Theater of Jefferson Union High school, according to John Eiler, president.

Names of the following persons were placed in nomination at the October meeting:

Melford Battye and Howard Richards, president; Francis Gates, Lee Lester and Tom Noonan, vice president; Mrs. Calla D. McDonald, secretary; Mrs. Marie Sorensen, treasurer; Harry Bosbery, qualifications committee chairman; and I. W. Silberstein, educational committee chairman.

No nominations were made for the chairmanships of the membership and publicity committees nor for three vacancies on the executive committee.

Principal item of business at Wednesday's meeting will be to complete the list of nominations and to elect officers, Eiler announces.

All League members and interested citizens are urged to attend the meeting and place in nomination the names of qualified persons. According to the by-laws adopted at the October meeting, persons not attached to any organization in the district are eligible for membership.

Hilltop Lodge Case Continued One Month

The Hilltop Lodge's appeal of its liquor license revocation was continued last Thursday in Judge Edmund Scott's superior court.

The judge said he had not completed reading transcript of the three board of equalization hearings which resulted in revocation of the license.

The case was continued to December 1.

the council has been besieged with calls from concerned parents asking "why in 'ell are you putting the high school on double sessions next year?"

What much of the citizenry fails to understand is that the city governs the city, the school districts govern the schools, and apparently, never the twain shall meet.

Our south American correspondent reports that Mr. and Mrs. EDWARD CEREGHINO, 412 Willits street, are vacationing at the Hotel Del Prado in Mexico City.

A fetching young Jefferson teacher accompanied fourth and fifth grade students to their Grand National Livestock Show field trip last week.

Highlight of the day, as far as the kids were concerned, was when the champion wrangler rode up to the teacher on his handsome mount, asked said petite miss for her phone number.

BENJAMIN SILBER, 72 Teresa street, was disconcerted Friday when he discovered his nine-year-old son missing.

Silber phoned local police at 12:06 a.m., reporting that his boy had been missing since 9 p.m.

At 12:45 a.m. he buzzed the police again.

The boy had been found, sleeping in the backyard swing.

The local Chamber of Commerce bulletin, from whence this item was stolen, says Joint Highway District 10 will soon be notified regarding placing of signs on Junipero Serra boulevard giving Daly City's population as 28,134, instead of the present 23,192. Other good news in the bulletin was the fact that a committee is working for the erection of service club signs at the outskirts of town.

We haven't got all the details but indisputable sources tell us that RICHARD LIBERTY, clerk of the municipal court, was presented with a son Tuesday.

Also on hand were Daly City planners and Arthur Bodien, chairman of the county planning commission. Bodien said he was the only member of the commission who opposed the easement transfer.

Didn't OK Station

Bodien said that his commission had only approved the property transfer, and that their action had nothing to do with the gas station. "If it's zoned C-2, it's a permissable use. There's nothing we can do about it," he explained.

"I heard the commission and it seemed to me they were also recommending approval of the gas station," charged Lesher, who represents 335 property owners petitioning against the station.

"Even if the street was not realigned, they could still put in the gas station," said Val Franz, chairman of Daly City planners.

Lagomarsino argued, "This deal looks wonderful on a fancy piece of paper. But go take a look for yourself and see what will happen when they butcher that intersection up."

"Great Scheme"

"This is a great scheme these Union Oil people have," Lagomarsino continued. "They're going to exchange a small piece for a large easement. It's a 3-1 deal. The county is giving something away they already have."

Orin Gesas, attorney for the oil firm, said that his company had conferred with the county engineers, and that they had concurred on the re-alignment.

At Tuesday's supervisors hearing, Gesas and Paul MacCarthy, attorney for Mrs. Gioldi, revealed that they would not ask access to the property on Market and would street near the Colma school.

Says Mike, the people north of Market and east of Hillside should be held responsible for the drainage problem.

The funny part of it is, the Calan Co. built most of the homes which Mike says contribute to the drain dilemma.

have ingress and egress to the station only on Hillside boulevard.

The Hillside homeowners hold that the gas station would constitute a hazard to children attending nearby Colma school.

Weibel Reports

H. Z. Weibel, Jefferson Elementary School district superintendent, reported at the council meeting that the board of trustees had voted to oppose the service station.

Lou Stark, commenting on Gesas' statement as to the safety of the gas station, said, "It's a fine report. But how many schools are across the walk from a gas station? Kids don't watch where they're going. We've got to protect the children before they get hurt. You're bound to have one child injured there."

Bodien suggested that the Daly City planners take a trip down to the intersection and that the supervisors be asked by the council to postpone the decision Tuesday.

Councilman Del Wilson then moved that the council ask a 30-day postponement.

"We Made Recommendation"

Franz then reminded the council that, "We've made our recommendation to apprpve the transfer. I don't think we want to get involved again."

"Yes, but you just considered alignment of the street, not the gas station," retorted Lesher.

Councilman Micheal De Bernardi answered, "The planners studied this. If they felt they were through with the matter I see no reason to go over it again."

Gesas appealed to the council not to ask the board to postpone their decision, pointing out that the matter had been pending since June 7.

Motion to notify the board for postponement passed, however, but there was no record at the supervisors' meeting that the request for postponement had been made.

BURGLARS FAIL IN BREAK-IN AT SCHOOL

An attempted break-in at General Pershing school over the weekend is being investigated by Daly City police. Officers said today that they suspect the weekend attempt was made by the same persons who stole two radios from the school last summer.

Entry was attempted by tearing away a metal screen and breaking a pane of glass in a window. The burglary was averted, however, when the culprits were unable to unlock the window.

Police were informed of the attempted break-in by Principal Don Pagani.

City To Withdraw From Tax Districts

15% of Fire District

Fifteen per cent of the fire district's assessed valuation is within Daly City. Stites said the fire district had a total valuation of $7,563,940, of which Daly City constituted 1,179,650 of that total. This, said Stites, represents $2600 that Daly City contributes annually to the fire district's budget of $13,350. Tax rate in the fire district is 27 cents per $100. This has been costing some Daly City residents as much as $10 a year.

Stites estimated that since 1949, when most of the land affected (Westlake) was annexed to Daly City, the city's taxpayers have put between $25,000 and $30,000 into the districts' coffers to help finance fire fighting facilities and lighting for somebody else.

Stites said as a result of this "inexcuseable" oversight, he was going to conduct an investigation into other special assessment districts to determine if Daly City citizens are paying other taxes for which they receive no services.

Some Daly City residents have been taxed by Broadmoor Police Protection district.

Can't Recoup Money

Stites and City Attorney Frank Blum said they doubted if Daly City would be able to recoup any of the funds already scheduled for payment to the districts under this year's taxes.

The manager said Daly City's withdrawal from the two districts would not take effect on the tax-rolls until the 1956-57 fiscal year.

Broadmoor and Colma area residents in the two districts who have been virtually getting a "free ride" on half of their lighting costs and one-sixth of their fire services, will feel the tax burden next year. In order for the two districts to finance their operation next year with the sharply reduced valuation, they will have to raise their tax rates accordingly. The lighting district rate alone will probably jump from seven cents per $100 to about 13 cents.

Manager Amazed

Stites said he was amazed that the unusual situation went undetected for all these years, but pointed out that with an adequate engineering department recurrences of such "double taxation" would not be probable. He explained that the trouble occurs when newly annexed property is not excluded from special taxing districts which formerly served the area while unincorporated.

Stites said that while most Westlake property owners would realize a seven cent per $100 cut in their taxes in the 1956-57 year due to withdrawal from the lighting district, it is possible this seven-cent assessment will be maintained by the city to help pay for city lighting. The manager pointed out that lighting costs in Westlake are considerably above costs elsewhere in the city because of the number of units and said it was not fair to have all the taxpayers in Daly City pay for the extensive Westlake lighting.

HYSTERICS AND DUE PROCESS

Citizens of the southeast Daly City area, the elementary school board and one or two well known businessmen have taken what could best be described as a hysterical attitude toward the impending construction of a gas station at Market street and Hillside boulevard.

Protests against the establishment purport that existence of a gas station some 100 yards from a school will create a hazard to the children attending there.

And yet as it now stands the property is unimproved, lacking even sidewalks for the children to use on their way to school. Instead they must walk in the street.

Furthermore, we cannot understand any interpretation of democratic thinking that would openly espouse depriving a land owner of a legal use of her property which has already been sanctioned by county zoning established many years before the school district dreamed they would have an institution nearby.

The fact that a school is built should not mean that lands nearby zoned in certain classifications should have to be re-zoned to conform with the school.

The law clearly states uses permissable under the commercial zoning at the property in question. A gas station is one of these uses.

Citizens, in their zeal to secure safety and education for their children, had perhaps remind themselves of the very teachings which their children are being imbued with.

The democratic concept certainly does not subscribe to any action which would deprive a citizen of 'property' virtually withuot due process of law.

Natural parental sentiment notwithstanding, the schools must abide by due process along with all other institutions in this country.

There's Maintenance Man In Town; Be Darned If It Isn't Tribe's Don Mossi

MAINTENANCE MAN Don Mossi, who in his "spare time" happens to be with the Cleveland Indians as one of the major league's outstanding relief pitchers, does a little grass cutting at Villa Sanitarium in Daly City where he is working for Joseph Sarto, the man who don says is responsible for his rapid ascension in professional baseball. Mossi is doing chores around the sanitarium until February, when spring training opens in Tucson, Ariz.

One would hardly expect to find a fellow who has been described in major league baseball writers' parlance as half of the "Gold Dust Twins," the "Double Shotgun," the "Tremendous Two" the "Tossout Twins," etc. working as a maintenance man in a quiet sanitarium.

But Don Mossi, product of Daly City's sandlots and one of professional baseball's best pitching properties, is doing just that.

Modest, affable Don, weary with the rigors of pitching for the Cleveland Indians for six months, has come back to work for the man who really gave him his start in basebal, Joseph Sarto, proprietor of Villa Sanitarium in Daly City.

Long-Removed

The 1955 pennant race is long-removed from the green lawns and spanking white exterior of the local sanitarium.

But Don found time out from his duties mowing the lawn, clipping hedges and sweeping up to talk a little about the past season, his greatest and one which brought him and his relief pitching "twin" Ray Narleski words of lavish praise from the most critical of the sporting media.

It's probably common knowledge that "dependable" Don and his teammate Ray were personally responsible for saving 49 games for the Tribe in relief pitching appearances.

And any Daly City baseball filbert knows that Don's earned run average was the third best in the majors.

Acts The Part

But 25-year-old Mossi looks and acts more the part of his off-season position as maintenance man than he does a youngster who has overshadowed the awe-inspiring "Big Three" of the Indians, Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia.

Don, as they say in the trade, "still wears the same size cap."

Asked how he felt after his third year on the majors firing line, Mossi said, "It's a lot different than when you break in. I didn't feel too nervous this season. Confidence is the important thing. You've got to have it or you couldn't take it."

The "quiet man," asked what makes the difference between a youngster who stops at the "bush" leagues and a performer who goes all the way, said work and ambition separated the men from the boys in the baseball world. Don explanied that you can have ability to burn, but if you haven't got your sights set on the top and aren't willing to throw in everything you've got to get there, it's a lost cause.

Was Relaxed

Mossi seemed to be perfectly relaxed in the atmosphere of the local sanitarium. But then he should be if he can relax in Yankee stadium facing 60,000 fans and batsmen like Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra et al.

The young left-hander revealed that he hadn't thrown a ball since the season ended. "They don't tell you how complete you should rest, but I figure when they say rest your arm, they mean it. I threw a lot of pitches last season and I want my arm to be fresh when I start again." Don said he might appear in an exhibition game at Marchbanks park in about a month, but was laying off the moundwork until then. He'll leave in February for spring training in Tucson, Ariz.

Next year Don hopes to get starting assignments. "It'd really be a lot easier pitching a nine-inning game and resting three or four days than it is working out there every day in relief," he ruminated. During the past season, Don was in the bullpen every day warming up and more than half the time he was called to duty toward the season's end.

Temperament

Talking with Mossi, it's easy to see that his temperament is a big part of his success. He declared that baseball is still a game to him. "I still get thrills out of playing like I did when I was a kid," he revealed.

And the organization that employs Don gets a thrill just having him on the payroll. The rumor that the Yankees offered $250,000 for the Mossi-Narleski combination seems credible when you recall the statement made at mid-season by Yank pilot Casey Stengel: "You let that club get ahead of you by one run in the last coupla innings and Lopez brings in those two kids to ram it down your throat."

Said Nathan Wallack, Cleveland publicity director, in a letter to this newspaper, "There is no question that the combination of Mossi and Narleski comprises the outstanding relief pitching duo in baseball, possibly the best combination in the history of baseball. There is no question that the major share of credit for winning the 1954 pennant and for keeping us in the 1955 race belongs to these two men."

In 117 Games

Figures show the pair appeared in 117 games, 60 for Narleski, 57 for Mossi. Narleski had a 9-1 MORE— ..... record, while Mossi's was 4-3. The won-loss record cannot be used as a yardstick, however, since Narleski saved 27 victories for starting pitchers, Mossi 22.

Between them they saved 49 victories, and since the club had a total of 93 wins, it is easy to see what their presence on the roster has meant to the club.

On September 13 the amazing pair of youngsters were featured in a lead article in the Cleveland News. In this article, Manager Lopez described the "Gold Dust Twins" as the "best bullpen I've seen in my 30 years in baseball."

Lopez said the two boys "have the three things a good reliefer needs. One, an excellent fast ball; two—fine control, and three—ice water in their veins."

13 Pages of Praise

A piece in October Baseball Digest devoted 13 pages to singing the praises of Don and Ray.

The Sporting News, baseball paper of the world, wrote up the relief combination in a feature spread on September 21. This paper termed Mossi and Narleski "double shotgun protection, right-handed and lefthanded barrels."

All these superlatives hardly seemed to go with a man who is putting in eight hours a day, five days a week mowing lawns and chopping weeds at a rest home for the indigent.

But it was Don Mossi all right. We peeked at the record book. You won't find out otherwise because as far as Don's concerned, he'd just as leave let people think of him as a maintenance man. Come to think of it, he does a pretty good job of maintenance out there on the diamond in the summer months.

Two For Tonight

By Leonore Brewer

Well, the San Francisco Ballet packed its barre and its mirrors, its scenery and its tutus and as of November 1 moved into new quarters at 378 Eighteenth avenue, at Geary street.

We paid a farewell visit to their old home on Washington street and chatted with Gordon Paxman, the company's maitre de ballet, who appeared to be surviving the traumatic ordeal quite well. Having expected to find the school engulfed in a mad furor, we were a mite disappointed to find that all was calm and peaceful in the office. It's even possible that a casual visitor could have come and gone, totally unaware of all the exciting things that are going on.

Some of this excitement is caused by the Sadler's Wells Ballet on its fourth American visit under the aegis of S. Hurok, and which appears at the San Francisco Opera House November 9 through 15. The performances of this illustrious company are naturally of interest to our local dancers, and this interest has been heightened by the gala opening night performance which will Benefit the San Francisco Ballet Guild.

We know that it is customary in Benefits to raise the price of the orchestra, grand tier and box seats only. We are quite aware of the reasoning behind this and when the benefit is for charity we are inclined to go along with it. But the Ballet Guild is something else again. We can't help wondering why a lesser additional charge should not have been made for all seats. After all, the occupiers of the topmost row in the balcony are just as avid balletomanes as those possessing the ten dollars required to occupy a more favored location. We doubt if anyone would have protested a small addational charge for this performance only, knowing that in the end it would benefit the San Francisco Ballet Company which contributes so much to the cultural life of the city.

As in the past, we have digressed from our main line of thought. But as we have long expressed the above opinion verbally, this seems the time to put it in writing.

Among the nine ballets which Sadler's Wells will present, four are the work of Frederick Ashton, internationally regarded as one of the world's greatest choreographers. The ballets are: "Tiresias," "Rinaldo and Armida," "Daphnis and Chloe" and "Madame Chrysantheme," the latter the company's newest production, premiered April 1, 1955. Adapted from the novel by Pierre Loti, it approaches the situation immortalized in "Madame Butterfly" from a worldly angle which will amuse the cynics.

Ashton began to study dance in 1924, first with Massine and then with Marie Rambert. He became a choreographer with the production of a small ballet for a revue in Hammersmith, in 1926. He has produced some 45 ballets, has danced in a number of them and has created such roles as the Chessplayer in "Checkmate" and M. Noverre in "The Prospect Before Us." Extremely skilled in character work, his portrayal of Carabosse the wicked fairy in "Sleeping Beauty" is unforgettable.

You may possibly recall that Ashton did the choreography for the film "Tales of Hoffman," and also appeared in a minor role.

YULE MAIL WILL HIT NEW RECORD, POSTMASTER SAYS

Daly City post office employees are prepared to handle a record volume of Christmas mail which has been predicted for this year on a national and local basis, according to Postmaster Vincent P. Murphy of Daly City.

To expedite the movement of the mail, Murphy made several suggestions and recommendations to the public, saying, "Everyone in the postal service recognizes the advantages of early mailing for Christmas."

He listed the following ways for the public to assist:

Parcels addressed to members of the Armed Forces overseas should be mailed as soon as possible with a deadline of November 15.

Business firms should plan to make heavy mailings for catalogs, calendars and similar materials in time for delivery by December 1, or withhold them until after Christmas.

Tie greeting cards into "local" and "out of town" bundles. Stickers are available at the post office to mark each type of bundle.

Use three-cent stamps on greeting cards unless you know address is positively correct. A card with a two-cent stamp will not be forwarded to an out of town address, nor will it be returned to sender.

The deadline for sure delivery by Christmas of cards and parcels on the West Coast is December 15, Murphy stated, while for cards and parcels destined for the East will be December 10.

JEFF HIGH STUDENT HURT RIDING 'BIKE'

Donald F. Koskinen, former Daly City resident, now living at 631 Castro street, was seriously injured in a crash at San Jose avenue and Alemany boulevard last week while he was on his way to school.

Donald was thrown from his motorcycle and his head shattered the window of a car driven by David Whitlock, 28, of 3167 San Jose avenue.

Koskinen, a senior at Jefferson High school, was treated for severe head injury and concussion at Mission Emergency hospital and then was transferred to St. Luke's hospital for further treatment where he is reported doing well.

Arrest DC Youth After Wild Chase In Redwood City

A 22-year-old Daly City youth, described as the ringleader of a gang of thugs, was arrested Sunday after a 20-block chase through downtown Redwood City.

Following the arrest, District Attorney Keith Sorenson issued a complaint of burglary against Joseph T. Garrido, 22, 358 Willits street. Police said that Garrido confessed to the Halloween burglary of Woodside's Country store and an earlier strong-arm robbery in San Jose.

The wild chase, which resulted in two arrests besides Garrido, began at 11 a.m. when two Redwood City officers recognized a car being driven by the Daly City youth as one believed to have been used in the San Jose burglary.

When the officers attempted to halt Garrido's car, the auto sped off.

The trio, after a 20-block ride, jumped from the car. The other two men were picked up immediately, but Garrido fled to a nearby woodshed. He had been spotted by onlookers, however, and was forced out by police.

All three were booked in Redwood City enroute to San Jose and to the San Mateo county sheriff's office.

Arrest Bookkeeper In Ladies Room Of Kirchhubel Tavern

A San Francisco bookkeeper was arrested on a drunk charge Tuesday afternoon at Kirchhubel's tavern, 6296 Mission street. Police were called to the scene by Mrs. Anne Kirchhubel who complained that the bookkeeper refused to leave the ladies rest room.

Scheduled to appear in municipal court on November 22 is Harry Larue Wagner, 38, 1020 Post street, San Francisco. Wagner was released on $25 cash bail.

Local Mother Finds Baby Dead In Crib

A five-month-old Daly City infant died, apparently of accidental suffocation, in his crib last Thursday. Dead is Gary Edward Buck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Buck of 251 Miriam street.

Discovery of the tragedy was made by the infant's mother who told police that she found the baby "blue and lifeless" in his crib. Mrs. Buck's husband is with the army in Korea.

Besides the parents, the infant is survived by a brother, Harley, and a sister, Linda.

Funeral service was held Saturday from W. C. Lasswell and Company. Interment was at Cypress Lawn Memorial park.

Arrest Disturbs Peace And Quiet Of Library

Usual peace and quiet of the Daly City library was disturbed Tuesday when police were called to pick up a 60-year-old man who allegedly had been drinking wine from a bottle found in his picket.

Held in the city jail until sober was William J. Burns, 60, Livermore Veterans hospital.

News From Here & There

By Eleanor Doyle

A get well wish is being sent to MRS. ANN EASON, who is convalescing at Mary's Help hospital after a recent operation. How about sending her some cards to let her know we're thinking of her?

Its back to work for MARLENE HARRIS and JUNE MAUNEY of Miriam street after spending two weeks in Alamaba visiting with June's parents.

Congratulations to ARTHUR and ANGIE MAHOOD of Moltke who have just celebrated sixteen years of marriage. They are parents of four lovely children.

A happy birthday to PHILLIS FILLBACH of Hillcrest who will be celebrating her eighth birthday with a group of her friends.

The theme of the Woodrow Wilson PTA bazaar will be, "HANDS AROUND THE WORLD." Dolls of all nations will be sold, plus many other wonderful homemade items. Supper will be served from 3 to 10 p.m. So let's make a date for Friday, November 18.

The turnout for the Monday evening Halloween party at the the Colma school turned out to be a big disappointment to over 100 children and many parents. We are not blaming the rcreation department as they did their job. Lots of parents were there to help, but no one knew what to do. Who goofed?

Belated birthday wishes to EARL SMITH of Abbot, who with a group of his friends celebrated his tenth birthday.

It's that time of the year again when Brownies and Girl Scouts will be selling 1956 calendars. MRS. ANN INGERSOLL of 439 Crocker avenue, chairman for Northern San Mateo county, urges all neighborhood calendar chairmen to pick up their calendars. The drive started November 7.

Intermediate Troop 66 enjoyed their first aid lesson given by Mrs. Dorothy Creasy, registered nurse, at one of their recent meetings. The girls are busy now writing to pen pals all around the globe.

Donor Chairman, MRS. EVA BIESS, announces that the recent DONOR DINNER given at the Los Banos Shul was a big success. It was given by Tillie and Max Glickman who reside in Sunnyvale but are members of this organization. As Chairman, Mrs. Biess wishes to thank Mr. and Mrs. Glickman for their splendid support and contribution.

The FRED ROBERTSONS of 371 Irvington announce that SCOTT ANTHONY arrived November 3, to take up permanent residence with them. Happy about the new addition are Karrol, 10, Bonnie Ann, 4; and Freddie, Jr., 11 months.

MRS. MURIEL KEITH of Bellevue, division chairman for the United Crusade, still needs lots of help in various neighborhoods. If there is anyone who would like to help on this drive, please contact Mrs. Keith at JU. 5-4191.

Another one of our local boys who is now a U. S. Marine is JOSEPH CARDINALI who left two weeks ago for boot training in San Diego. A former student at Jeff, he would like to hear from many of his friends, so call his Mom at PL. 5-5438 and she'll be glad to give you his address.

DANNY is the name selected for the second son of the DON MOSERS of Evergreen street. Brother Mike, who is three, is mighty proud of the new addition.

Congratulations to DOROTHY WAID VOGEL and LORENE FILLBACH, who have just completed a six week Blue Bird training course.

Our sincere symnathy to the SILVESTRI family in the sudden lose of their beloved Mother. She will be missed by many people.

Home to convalesce after spending two weeks in the hospital is BILL CERRELL of Evergreen street, who recently suffered a back injury after a 12-foot fall at his home.

The BAZAAR and DINNER that were given by the Grace Presbyterian church at Winchester and Crocker was certainly a big success. About 300 attended the dinner.

LINDA KNOX of Parma street and a smal group of friends celebrated her eighth birthday last week. A large doll cake, ice cream and candy were enjoyed by all.

Glad to hear that HAROLD P. BRADSHAW (our editor) is back on the job after a bout with that pneumonia bug.

The ABC CLUB who recently adopted a ward at the Laguna Honda Home surprised the men the other evening with a wonderful Halloween "trick or treat" party.

Newest addition to the OWEN ENGLISH family of School street is Lydia Caroline who put in an appearance November 5 at St. Joseph's hospital where she tipped the scales at 9 lbs., 2 ozs. This bring the count to four boys and three girls.

The OSCAR HANSONS of 300 Parkview avenue celebrated their 25th anniversary November 5. A buffet dinner at the George Ballotto home celebrated the occasion.

Enjoying a cook out at the Peoria Scout house were the girls in TROOP 185 who were under the watchful eyes of Mrs. Mary Noe and Mrs. Jean Schmale.

The big family gathering the other evening at the LUCCHESI home on Hillside was to help Dad celebrate his birthday.

News from Sterling Park. . . The DURRANS and THOMPSONS, who both reside on C street, enjoyed a wonderful weekend in Sonora. . . . The MARSIGLIS took off and enjoyed a nice weekend at their country home in Lake county. . . . That ever so busy gal, DELORES ROACH of C street is, is improving now after a three and a half year fight with multiple sclerosis. Right now she is quite busy distributing calendars for the Sterling Park area. She has been calendar chairman for many years.

Another belated birthday wish goes to small fry STEVEN MALERBI who blew out three candles on his birthday cake this year.

The ROY DOYLE family of Garwood are busy these days entertaining Mr. Doyle's mother from Detroit, Michigan, who is planning an indefinite stay here in our town.

Glad to report that this week's sick list is a small one. . . . Cathy Bogdan has been having a seige of it but the last report from her Mother was that Cathy will be back to school on Monday (she hoped) . . . CATHY RACE of Castle street has also been a pretty sick little girl, but that flu bug is on the run now so it's back to school for Cathy.

Latest mothers to join the ranks of working gals are EVELYN DURHAM and BETTY SINICROPI who both live on Abbot.

THE ALBERT AXT family of Theta were quite happy to welcome Dad home for a short visit recently. On his way around the world as an engineer aboard the President Jackson, he was very happy to be able to spend a few days with his family. He will be gone about three and a half months this time and is looking forward to seeing many interesting places.

Many happy returns to SAMMY DANIELE of Bismark who just celebrated his eleventh birthday.

No Citations Issued In Intersection Accident

No citations were issued in an accident at the Alemany-Sheffield intersection Monday morning. Police said the collision occurred when a car driven by a Daly City nurse collided with another auto while making a left turn.

The nurse is Ann M. Johnson, 57, 170 Lake Vista avenue, while driver of the other car was Donald Sam Baker, 32, a machinist from Mountain View.

Broadmoor Girl Spends 9th Birthday In Hospital

By Gwin Mitchell

Next Friday is Corine Ford's ninth birthday. Right now she should be planning her birthday party with her parents and her three sisters, but she isn't. Instead she is a patient in ward C-2 at Letterman General hospital, where she has been for some two months.

The blonde, brown-eyed little Broadmoor girl, who was something of a tomboy and loved to run with her dog, finds it hard to stay in bed day after day, particularly when much of the time she is immobilized in a body cast. Only occasional trips to the hydrotherapy room or the time when the nurse wheels her bed in to see television break the monotony.

Spark From Fire

The body casts and the hydrotherapy are part of the treatment for the skin grafts Corine needs for her chest, back and thighs. In September, she was warming herself in front of the family fireplace when a spark from burning newspapers blew over or through the screen and caught her flannel nightgown. Not realizing it right away, Corine felt the extra warmth only when it was too late, and as a result she was taken to Junipero Serra Emergency hospital with third degree burns. Four days after that she went to Letterman.

CORINE FORD
. . . Hospital Birthday

Her particularly delicate skin made the burns that much more severe, with high fever and anemia at the start of her long illness.

But Corine feels better now, though it may be a long time before she can come home again, and her mother says that she has adjusted well to hospital life and has made friends in her ward. Part of this adjustment has come from the happiness Corine has gotten from the many cards and letters her friends have sent her. Her fourth grade classmates at Garden Village school all wrote to her, and other playmates have written also. Both the children and adults of Hope Lutheran church, where all the Ford girls go to Sunday school, have helped with cards and letters and prayers, and Corine's parents are more than grateful for the thoughtfulness which has made their daughter's illness that much easier to bear.

See For An Hour

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ford, who live at 811 Larchmont, can see Corine for an hour each Wednesday, Friday and Sunday, and her sisters have visited her once, but they could only talk to her through an open window. Right now, Jennifer, who is ten, and the six year old twins, Carol and Karen, are busy planning birthday presents and surprises that Corine will be able to enjoy and keep by her bed. Paper dolls, magazines and pictures of the animals Corine loves will probably be on the list.

Like her family, everyone who knows and loves Corine hopes that it won't be too long before she will be well, and that next year's birthday can be complete with a party at her own home.

WEIBEL DEFENDS TODAY'S KIDS AT PTA MEET

Guest speaker at the 23rd anniversary meeting of the Colma PTA at Jefferson Elementary school was Superintendent H. Z. Weibel, who was introduced by Mrs. Gino Marchetti, vice president and program chairman. He related that much criticism is published about schools and the children of today.

Since this subject touches on so many young lives the school department welcomes ideas of people interested in the welfare of children, he said. He also told how much more advanced the children of today are in comparison to the same age children of 25 years ago. Many methods have changed in the school system, Weibel added. "The younger generation is as fine as anyone ever was. They are decent and honorable, but as always, because of a few we condemn the whole generation. It is up to the older folks to set good examples of fine democracy. What everyone needs most is for someone to believe in them," he stated.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Mervin Nofziger, president of the unit for her second year. Mrs. Emily Hammond, kindergarten teacher, read the Character Thought, also stating, "We should give thanks for the privilege of living in this Nation."

DC MAJOR RETIRES AFTER 27 YEARS IN U. S. ARMY SERVICE

Major Earl C. Johnson, 324 Bellevue avenue, was retired from the United States army recently after 27 years of service. Retirement ceremonies were performed in Seattle where he was stationed for a year after serving three years in Germany.

The major lives here with his wife and daughter, Earleen, 14, who attends Jefferson Union High school.

Book Week Story Hour At DC Library

A Book Week story hour will be held at the Daly City public library next Thursday at 4:15 p.m. for elementary school age children.

"Let's Read More" is the theme for the annual Children's Book Week November 13-19. The Daly City Library will display outstanding juvenile books in various categories to celebrate "our unique American bounty of fine children's books," said Librarian Patricia Clark.

"Children's Book Week is a good time to remind parents of preschoolers that there is a good sized collection of picture, story, song, and activity books available for use with their youngsters," she added.

Plan Business Law Course At Jeff Hi

Letters have been sent out by Jefferson Union High school to the service clubs in the district asking if the members would be interested in attending a proposed business law course at the school.

The course, which is open to anyone in the district, will be given at the school by a lawyer from 7 to 9 on Thursday evenings, beginning December 1.

Crockerites Report

Mrs. Malone - 2nd Grade

Since our class is studying about food and paying special attention to breakfasts, we have formed a breakfast club. Our class is divided into four teams. The Robins, Cardinals, Orioles and Bluebirds. Each day we check our breakfast cards to see which team has eaten the most healthful breakfasts. So far the Cardinals have won for two weeks and the Robins one week.

This week we are going to visit the Cow Palace to see the livestock show. It will be interesting to see the animals that we have been talking about in class. Since most of us live in the city it will be the first time many of us have had a chance to see the animals we raise in California.

Mrs. James - 2nd Grade

Our second grade is studying our community and making posters of the important helpers in our community.

Arthur Martinez and Linda Smith have finished a poster of the Milkman. Linda Petric and Virginia Massoni have completed their poster of the Baker.

Our class will be studying about farm animals, and in order that we may see some of the important animals, we are taking a trip to the Cow Palace to see the livestock show.

Fifth Grade - Mrs. M. Clarke

Our class has had an interesting lesson on clay. Mrs. Clarke, our teacher, suggested making tile. Each of us had our own designs. Mrs. Clarke demonstrated to us how to wedge the clay to take the air bubbles out. It was great fun until clean-up time came along. —Reported by Bonnie Langwell.

Mrs. Clarke and her class have a collection of rocks. The rocks are glued on square tile pieces. There are many stones of different shapes, sizes, and an array of beautiful colors. The different colors in the rocks are the result of minerals, such as lead, zinc and copper.

We loaned the rocks to the 3rd grade. They brought them back and said they enjoyed them very much. We enjoy studying and admiring them. —Reported by Georgia Naylor.

First Grade - Mrs. J. Koenig

Our room had 100 per cent attendance on the day we visited the Jr. Livestock Exposition at the Cow Palace. The children were especially delighted with the baby animals and amazed at the size of the bulls. The class wishes to thank the two mothers, Mrs. Atkins and Mrs. Williams, who so graciously gave their time to accompany the children on the trip.

Our first grade is happy to have the assistance of a very capable cadet teacher, Mrs. Lee.

The class has been enjoying the new rhythm instruments. They are using them for sound effects in their creative rhythms.

Jeff Hi Quarter Ends; Get Grades Wednesday

Jefferson Union High school students completed their first quarter of instruction yesterday and are awaiting report cards which will be issued Wednesday.

As the monthly meeting of the Jefferson Parent-Teachers' association falls on November 17, parents who wish to discuss their child's progress may find this a convenient time, according to Superintendent Stanford Hannah.

The PTA program will feature a discussion of the high school health program by Mrs. Marion Butler, school nurse.

Cub Pack 259 Festival Set This Weekend

Families who like fun will find the 259 Festival just the ticket, especially for this holiday weekend, according to Cub leaders. From 1 to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday, music, color, games and refreshments will make the corner of 87th and Washington streets the place to meet friends and neighbors and try for the many prizes offered, the leaders said.

Given by the Cub Pack 259 Parents Group, the festival is the main project of the year. Some 12 fathers helped build and paint booths, wire light and string bunting while some of the mothers made and distributed posters. Most of the pack parents will take turns handling the various booths, and the Cubs of the pack will be there in full force to welcome the public.

The Parents Group has received full cooperation from many neighborhood firms and individuals. Lumber for the booths was donated by the Dolan Wrecking Company and by Callan Realty, and the cardboard backing by Associated Home Furnishers. The clown sign which toured the area during the first of the week was the work of Ed Cuevas, 732 Stoneyford, with the signboards and towing service courtesy of Joe Lewkowitz.

Final plans for the festival were discussed at the pack meeting last Friday night. Inspection was held, with Den 5 winning the cup for the best appearance. The following awards were made:

SF MAN ARRESTED IN FRONT OF BAR

A 30-year-old San Francisco carpenter was arrested on a drunk charge Monday night when he fell on the sidewalk in front of Kirchhubel's tavern, 6296 Mission street. Police Officer George Brooks said that he spotted the carpenter coming out of the bar before he fell.

Scheduled to appear in municipal court on Tuesday is Thomas E. Franklin, 30, 117 Plymouth avenue, San Francisco.

ARREST SUNNYVALE MAN ON DRUNK COUNT

A 47-year-old Sunnyvale man, wanted for questioning on a hit and run in San Bruno, was picked up Sunday by local police. Held on a charge of drunk driving was George W. Miller, 47, 1070 Susan Way, Sunnyvale.

Officers Gerold Schaeffer and James Bergstrom spotted Miller's car and trailer after hearing a broadcast of the description. They said they followed Miller's car from Junipero Serra boulevard to Knowles and Woodrow, where they made the arrest.

Miller admitted to "hitting something" in San Bruno but told officers that he "didn't know what," police said.

The Sunnyvale resident was released on $250 bail and is scheduled to appear in municipal court on November 22.

Cops Arrest Shipfitter On Drunk Charge Here

A San Francisco shipfitter was arrested here on a charge of drunkenness early Saturday morning. Picked up on Flournoy street by local police was Frank J. Clayton, 53, 836 Northridge road, San Francisco.

DC WOMAN INJURED IN FALL ON STAIRS

A 51-year-old woman was rushed to Junipero Serra hospital following an accident early this Thursday morning in which she fell down a flight of stairs at her home. Treated for head injuries was Mrs. Hansine A. Helbrank of 322 Oliver street.

Mrs. Helbrank's husband was the first to discover the accident which occurred at 2:45 a.m. He reported that he was in bed asleep when he heard a noise and, upon investigation, found his wife unconscious at the bottom of the stairway.

Clothesline Thief Strikes On Hillside Boulevard

Women and children's clothing, reaching a total value of $10.89, was stolen Monday night from a clothesline at 679 Hillside boulevard. Reporting the theft was Mrs. Jeanette Thoreson of that address.

Mrs. Thoreson told officers that missing from her line were a pair of woman's pajamas, a bath towel, pair of child's socks and a woman's blouse. Other articles on the line were not taken.

SF MAN, 68, STRUCK DOWN BY CAR HERE

A 68-year-old man suffered minor injuries Monday night when he was struck down by a car as he crossed Mission street near Templeton avenue. Driver of the car was Robert H. Wesley, 33, 425 South Mayfair avenue.

The injured man, Abraham Zarcone, 166 Sears street, San Francisco, was treated at Junipero Serra hospital.

No citations have been issued.

Mr. Wooly Bear is a furry caterpillar who came to visit us. His home is a jar. We will watch him. He might surprise us. We have two new boys in our class, Frank and Larry.

Teacher - Mrs. Hover
Grade - Fourth

Our fourth grade is working on a mural about Indian life. We are hoping to complete it by next week. We made some clay pottery. It is drying and when it is completely dry we will paint and bake them in the kiln. Then we will glaze them. We hope they turn out nice. Some made bowls and others made plates.

Mrs. Hawkin's fourth grade has been writing diaries about the early explorers of California. They have pictures about their stories.

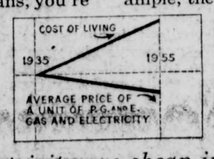
Meet the Greens
who set up housekeeping in Chico, in 1935

20 YEARS AGO—when Margaret and Carl Green were married in Chico, their first home had just five appliances: range, water heater, iron, toaster and radio.

TODAY—their beautiful, spacious home is equipped with 29 modern appliances: refrigerator, range, exhaust fan, three radios, television, mixer, iron, ironer, hair dryer, toaster, four electric clocks, coffee maker, automatic washer, vacuum cleaner, floor polisher, waffle iron, air conditioner, gas furnace, water heater, roaster, razor, vibrator, sewing machine and a completely equipped power workshop.

Today they buy $21 worth of gas and electricity for $14
...for the average unit cost is about ⅓ less than it was in 1935

In California today, the average family is using about three times as much gas and electricity as it did twenty years ago. And, if you're like most Californians, you're probably using more and more gas and electricity, as you keep adding modern-living appliances and better lighting to your home. Because of this, your bill may be higher. But it is far lower than it would have been twenty years ago.



For, thanks to mass production economies, the average cost of a unit of gas and electricity is down about one-third. As an example, the Greens' gas and electric bill in a recent month was $14.73. In 1935, the same amount would have cost $20.88. Your own bill would probably show similar savings. Can you think of any other prices that are lower today than 20 years ago? No wonder we say . . .

Gas and Electricity are cheap in California!

Plans 'Rolling' For OLPH Yule Bazaar

Plans are "rolling" in preparation for the OLPH Mothers' club annual Christmas bazaar, and from the reports given at the last meeting, this year's bazaar will surpass all its forerunners, the club said.

Among the concessions will be the favorite cake booth.

Mrs. Virginia Ramos, chairman of this booth, says there will be many specialty cakes for this event. A toy and Christmas novelty booth will be headed by Margaret Kennedy and Barbara Plyer as chairmen, assisted by Dorothy Peterson, Lorraine Connell, Helen Fredericks and Margaret De Marco. A new booth added this year will be the goldfish booth. The chairmen of this booth are Jeanne Haney, Evelyn Mosman and Louise Lofrano.

Mrs. Isabelle Liberti will handle the surprise package concession this year. Mrs. Liberti will be assisted by Mesdames Louise Bonella, Dorothy Marino, Marie Viotta, Marina Ciabattari, Eda Bonini and Louise Crudo.

DOROTHY CARRINGTON
. . . Heads OLPH Event

Provisions have been made to accomodate children at the bazaar with a special booth for kiddies only. Mrs. Betty Maschnot and Mrs. Marie Weedon are co-chairmen of the kiddies booth. Working with the chairmen are Eleanor Vinal, Dorothy Smyser, Alice Fistalera and Audrey Sallade.

The Mothers' club will hold their regular monthly meeting this Friday night at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium. Committee members will make their reports and additional plans will be made for December 4. Fifth grade mothers, under leadership of Mrs. Eleanor Vinal, will be hostesses for the evening's meeting.

Greyhound Bus, Truck In Mission St. Mishap

Two men suffered minor injuries Friday afternoon when their truck was rammed by a Greyhound bus on Mission street and Templeton avenue.

Police said the accident apparently occurred when William W. Andrick, 38, 379 Maynard street, San Francisco, stopped short to avoid hitting a pedestrian. The bus then struck the rear of the truck.

Both Andrick and his passenger, William J. Jackson, 37, 175 Sixth street, San Francisco, refused medical attention, police said.

EVICTED PAINTER IS ARRESTED BY DC COPS

A 55-year-old painter, evicted from his apartment Friday, was arrested on a drunk charge Sunday when he allegedly tried to enter his landlady's premises by force.

Scheduled to appear in municipal court on Thursday is Dennis P. McGuire. Police were called by Mrs. Eve Moseley, 25 Rice street, who said that her former tenant had been trying to force his way into her residence for two hours.

McGuire was released on $25 bail.

ABANDON NO. 76 MUNI BUS TODAY

The No. 76 Municipal Bus, which provides transit between Westlake and West Portal, will be abandoned tonight (Friday) at the end of its daily run.

Decision to terminate contract with Henry Doelger, who had been subsidizing the San Francisco line, was made Monday night by the SF public utilities commission. Doelger's subsidy contract was scheduled to run through December 31, but the PUC agreed to release Doelger from the obligation.

The bus has been under subsidy by Doelger since March. He was originally offering a maximum of $600 a month against the line's losses. Later Doelger agreed to subsidize all losses.

Figures showed that during August the No. 76 lost $1928, and $1760 in September, all of which Doelger subsidized.

Abandonment of the bus line has been sought by San Francisco for several years. The No. 76 would have been eliminated last March, except for Doelger's underwriting the losses.

Jack Kendree, managing director of Westlake shopping center, said the Northgate Transit Co.'s jitneys appeared able to handle Westlake's needs. "We were surprised," said Kendree, "at the efficiency of the Northgate operation. But we didn't want to give up the No. 76 until we knew the jitneys were doing a job."

He said outcome of the jitneys' application to operate in unincorporated San Mateo county would not affect their ability to serve the Westlake area.

Abandonment of the No. 76 will, however, leave a gap in some families' transportation needs.

The line had offered express service to St. Francis Woods in the West Portal area, where commuters could then connect with streetcars travelling down Market direct to downtown San Francisco.

Persons who work in San Francisco will now have to ride the jitneys to the top of the hill area on Mission in Daly City, and connect there with either the San Francisco jitneys or buses to reach downtown area.

Attorney Charges Tom Callan Sr. With Northgate 'Interest'

In a last-ditch apest to let the county board of supervisors from setting the Northgate election under the reduced boundaries, Attorney Antonio Gaudio yesterday charged that Supervisor Thomas Callan Sr. had been influenced in his voting by the fact that his son owned property in the land affected.

Gaudio said that Callan's son, Thomas Callan Jr., owned some $200,000 interest in the Zeta Corp., which holds the property formerly known as Zanone land. Chris McKeon of Zeta Corp., developer who plans to sub-divide the land, requested that property be excluded from the proposed incorporation area.

Callan, along with all but one other supervisor, complied with McKeon's request, along with requests of other property owners who did not want to become a part of the city.

Gaudio maintained the vote was illegal, because of Callan's interest in the proceedings.

District Attorney Keith Sorenson said, however, that Thomas Callan Sr. was financially independent and did not need his father's influence. Callan Sr. offered the fact that, "He paid more personal income tax last year than I did."

The supervisors proceeded to formally set the incorporation election for January 24, in a 3-1 vote, Callan abstaining and Alvin Hatch opposing the election under the whittled boundaries.

Gaudio said he would file an action in superior court to have the board's action declared illegal.

No Citations Issued In Mission Street Mishap

No citations were issued in an auto accident on Mission north of Garibaldi street Saturday afternoon. Police said that both vehicles had been moved before officers' arrival.

Drivers were John J. Kennedy, 23, 2101 San Jose avenue, and Sam Palazzalo, 55, 1971 Geneva avenue, San Francisco.

Two Boys Admit Drinking Wine In Local Theater

A pair of youths, aged 16 and 17, who admitted to drinking wine in a local theater, were picked up by local police Saturday afternoon. Officers said that they spotted the pair as they walked from the theater to a car, owned by one of the boys.

The youths told police that an adult had bought a fifth of white wine for each of them upon the boys' request. Both the youths were released to the custody of their parents.

Fred Silicanis Celebrate Their Gold Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Silicani, longtime residents of Colma, recently celebrated their Golden Anniversary with a party at their home on Saturday night. Mr. Silicani has lived in Colma for most of his 76 years.

Helping to celebrate the event were the Silicani's children: Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kettler of Broadmoor, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bruno and family of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. A. Schenone and family of Colma, Mr. and Mrs. M. Cortesi and family of Colma, Mr. and Mrs. A. Silicani and sons of Colma, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Torre of Moss Beach. Unable to be at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rauh and family.

Besides six children, Mr. and Mrs. Silicani have 16 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Edmund Hyndman, BYA Director, Dies

Edmund Maria Hyndman, 53-year-old Broadmoor resident, was pronounced dead on arrival at Junipero Serra hospital Friday evening, after suffering a heart attack at his home, 826 Ellis drive.

Hyndman was seated at his home when the attack occurred and he was rushed to the hospital by Broadmoor ambulance.

Proprietor of a San Francisco typewriter repair business, Hyndman was active in Broadmoor Youth association and one of the group's directors.

Hyndman was born in China. He had lived in Broadmoor for five years.

He leaves a widow, Elizabeth; four children, Edmund, Ann and Gerald Hyndman and Mrs. Carol Spell; and a brother, Edwin Hyndman.

Funeral services were held yesterday from W. C. Lasswell & Co. in Daly City, with interment at Holy Cross cemetery, following Mass at Holy Angels church. Rosary was recited Monday night.

Sewage Treatment Plant Has Own Gas

The new $500,000 sewage treatment plant in Westlake will pay a smaller gas bill than the average Daly City home.

M. H. Coblentz, plant superintendent, reported to the North San Mateo county Sanitation district board Monday that sufficient gas was now being generated from the processed sewage to heat the entire plant.

In other action Monday, the board:

1. Received cost estimate of $35,000 for installing new 18 inch outfall sewer line under Lake Merced boulevard. The matter was held over.

2. Heard from Mr. and Mrs. Rateak, 485 San Diego avenue, on "doubled-up" sewer laterals at their home.

3. Agreed to bill Daly City $1275 for partial cost of constructing driveway to sewage plant.

4. Discussed hiring Lester E. Faber as emergency service laborer, and L. Dielissen as permanent maintenance man. Matter was held over until tonight (Wednesday).

DC COPS QUESTION THREE YOUTHS IN CAR THEFT ATTEMPT

Three local teen-agers were questioned by police Sunday night after one of the trio was caught red-handed inside a car at the Serra theater parking lot. The owner of the auto, Leo Zappatini of 542 Hillside boulevard, told officers that he had locked his car before entering the theater.

Two of the boys escaped when they saw Zappatini approching the car, but the third youth was left in the back seat of the two door sedan. Zappatini grabbed the boy and called police who picked up two youths answering descriptions given by Zappatini a few blocks away.

Officers said the last two boys denied any connection with the break-in. All three reprimanded and released to the custody of their parents.

DODGERS CLOBBER ST. MICHAELS AS TRACY TOSSES GEM

BYA Dodgers pitcher Terry Tracy tossed a one-hitter as he guided his club to a 19-1 rout over St. Michaels Saturday.

Tracy struck out five batters, walked eight.

Tracy also led the batting with a double and two singles in four trips, followed by Don Harris' double and single in four at bats.

Getting singles were Tom McHugh, Bobby Goodwin, Ronnie Townsend, Dick Geno and Frank Dykes. McHough, Geno and Townsend each scored three runs apiece, while Frank Dykes and Tracy tallied two each.

The Dodgers will face Mill Valley this Saturday at West Sunset diamond, starting at 11 a.m.

DC Rec Basketball League Announced

Daly City recreation department has scheduled a basketball league for the months of November, December and January to be held at the community center on Saturday mornings. The league will be divided into two divisions, "A" for boys in the eighth grade, and "B" for seventh and sixth graders.

A Thanksgiving elimination tournament is currently being developed to both stimulate interest and officially open the 1955 basketball season. The tournament will take place on Saturday, November 26, at the community center and will be completed on the same day. All teams in both divisions will participate in a regulation one quarter elimination "game." Victorious teams will continue playing until a champion has been decided in both divisions.

The basketball league will then commence on the following Saturday, December 3, and the schedule will include double round robin play. All official team rosters must be completed and filed not later than the first league game.

A meeting will be held on Saturday, November 19, at which time all coaches of both divisions will be asked to attend. The meeting will be held to adopt rules and regulations.

pression and the teachers won't like it." Appleton's proposal was referred to the district attorney's office for recommendation.

3. Voted to dispense with reading of minutes prior to meetings, unless requested specifically by a trustee or patron of the district.

4. Awarded bid for Colma blacktop work to O. C. Jones & Sons, whose figures of $3320 was low of five proposals submitted. Estimate for the job was $3500.

5. Filed for the record letter from Sharp Park Electric, subcontractor who bid on the electric work for Benjamin Franklin school. The Sharp Park firm's bid was $6 more than the proposal submitted by the company awarded contract from the general contractor. Chairman Michael Callan said it was not within the board's jurisdiction to issue jobs to sub-contractors, and that this was up to the general contractor.

6. Approved hiring additional employee for central office staff. The employee, Darlene Driscoll, 19, will receive monthly salary of $260.

Ethics Committee

7. Read ethics committee report from San Mateo County Teachers association, which recommended that hearings be held for dismissed teachers, and that probationary teachers be notified by April 1 if their contracts are not going to be renewed. Legal date for notification is now May 15.

8. Heard new laws on trustee elections, which provide for only one ballot for the elementary, high school and junior college districts and call for canvassing of votes by the county instead of the local school board.

9. Were informed by Weibel that services of Dr. Hilda Taba of San Francisco State college, national authority on group dynamics, had been obtained for the teachers' institute November 23.

10. Reviewed the district's new publication, "Jefferson Journal," which will be circulated to 5000 parents in the district. Cost of the publication was $205.

DC Student Attends College Conference

College of San Mateo Associated Students will send five delegates to the California Student Government association's biannual conference in Fresno, November 17-19. Delegates are James Nystrom, Associated Students president; Shirley Hansen, judicial council; Everett Munsey, Al Lagomarsino of Daly City, low frosh president; Fred Seger, Associated Students vice-president and chairman of associated club council.

Indian Harriers Fourth

LITTLE CAGERS ROUT CARLMONT FOR TWO WINS

Skunking Carlmont twice Tuesday, Jefferson High school 10s and 20s basketball teams took over second and third places, respectively, in the PAL lightweight basketball race.

The 10s battered the Scots, 44-28, as Don Miller tanked 11 points for the winners.

Leroy Franzoia banged home 19 markers as the local 20s buried Carlmont, 53-28. Wayne Anderson was runner-up to Franzoia with 12.

The 10s now hold down second behind Capuchino, with 9 wins, three losses, against a 11-1 Mustang mark.

The Daly City 20s are in third, 9-3, behind San Mateo, 10-2, and Capuchino, 12-0.

There's strength in numbers, and Jefferson High school cross-country team proved the old axiom in the PAL meet last week, as they finished fourth in varsity competition, third in the junior varsity class, and third in the frosh-soph.

The varsity meet found the Indians grouped like grapes at the finish of the 1.95 mile Stanford course.

Ken Cooper led the locals to the tape, finishing 18th. Right behind in the 19th spot was Andy Estigoy, while on his heels in the 20th was Jeff's Dick Johnson. The Indians let a few yards get between them, as they missed 21st and 22nd, but right there at 23rd was Bob Millward, while in 25th was Dave Garris, and a few steps behind in 27th was Jim Taylor. "By himself" in 34th was George Grasso.

The Jeffs finished with a score of 105, behind Burlingame, 96, Carlmont, 43, and the winning Palo Alto harriers, 25.

In the Jayvee class, the Indians wound up with 94 points, placing them third behind Palo Alto, 59, and San Mateo, 22.

John Jackson led the Daly City jayvees, finishing in eighth place. Winding up 13th was Steve Mack, while Boyd Hillyer was 23rd, Jerry Bennit, 24th.

In frosh-soph competition, Palo Alto won the honors with 53, followed by Carlmont's 35 and Jefferson's 37. Jim Gustafson placed fourth for the Indians, and right behind in fifth was Arnold Pollard. Joe Giusti closed in 11th, while Phil Green was 15th, Gary Romriell, 17th, and Earl Graves, 18th.

Northgate City Is Squelched By Board

ate it'll be rough sledding for a while. They'll have to rely on subsequent annexations to develop the city."

Noonan called the board's action unfair. "It seems to me that the supervisors are voting for all the people. Just because a few guys with big hunks of property protest, that's no reason they should run everything." Noonan said the board "exceeded its moral authority" in whittling the boundaries down. "There's no logical reason for them to exclude these areas," he declared.

No Representation

At Friday's hearing McKeon, in protesting inclusion of his property in the city, said it would amount to "taxation without representation," since his land would be uninhabited for several years.

McKeon revealed that he had loaned the incorporation group $500 for election expenses with the understanding that they would exclude his property from the proposed city. When boundaries were submitted, the developer said, he was surprised to find his land included in the incorporation area.

Richard Lyons, South San Francisco city attorney, protested on behalf of his city, claiming that if certain of the lands were included in Northgate, much of his city's watershed would be destroyed.

Only supervisor to oppose the revised boundaries was Alvin Hatch, who said the issue was up to the people.

part of 1954.

In commenting on the accident, Kennedy said that using gasoline for cleaning is "playing with dynamite."

"Due to its explosive qualities, gasoline should never be used inside where there is danger of the fumes coming in contact with an open flame," the chief stated. He advised that non-explosive compounds for cleaning are obtainable through commercial channels.

Kennedy recalled that two men were killed last year as a result of an explosion while they were cleaning a motorcycle. The accident, referred to by the chief, happened May 23, 1954, and resulted in the deaths of George Boerstler and Eugene Harman.

Deliver Christmas Seals On Wednesday

The traditional delivery of Christmas Seals will take place Wednesday of next week when postmen will carry some 7500 letters to Daly City and Colma residents from the San Mateo County Tuberculosis and Health association.

Anthony Gaggero, Christmas Seal chairman for Daly City, reports that the letters constitute the only appeal made for funds to support the association's fight against tuberculosis. "Read your letter carefully," he urged. "I think you will then decide to increase your regular contribution."

Jefferson Smashes Sequoia But Title Hopes Dim As Lions Throttle SSF, Stay Unbeaten

Jefferson High school gridders swarmed over Sequoia Friday for a 37-0 PAL victory, their fourth in five tries, but the Daly City club will still have to battle down to the wire to take second place.

The PAL scales tipped away from the Indians Friday, despite their triumph, as Lincoln of San Jose knocked off previously unbeaten South San Francisco to remain undefeated. This means that Lincoln, with only the league's weak sisters, Sequoia, Carlmont and San Jose, left on the schedule, will have little trouble finishing the sked with a perfect mark.

Jefferson goes south at 1 p.m. today to meet a comparatively easy Burlingame squad that has a 2-3 record, but faces toughies in the next two weeks, with Menlo-Atherton, November 18, and South San Francisco on Thanksgiving day.

Can't Lose Any

Since SSF and Palo Alto share second spot with Jeff, all with 4-1 tallies, it means Coach Joe McGrath's Indians can't afford to lose one.

Going into today's tilt, the Jeff mentor will be without services of alternate first string back Tex Prentice, who suffered a fractured hand in the Capuchino game. The cast was scheduled to come off this week, but doctor's edict is that Prentice must stay away from the pigskin until the Menlo contest.

While McGrath loses one stalwart back, he picks up the full-time services today of half-back Harold Funkhouser, who wound up in sick bay after the Serra game with a knee injury, and has seen no action since then except for limited duty last week. In his one carry, the hefty Funkhouser racked up 11 yards, and McGrath says he looked good.

Funkhouser won't make the starting backfield however, as the old stand-bys Jim Honeywell, quarterback, Ron O'Rourke and Jerry Howard, half backs, and Lee Casentini, full back, will be assigned the chores.

Wiesner Ousted

In the line the only major change is removal of veteran center Don Wiesner from the first club. McGrath says he will start Stan Jacobsen at this post, since the youngster has "been working hard" this past week.

Tom Cloutier and Ted Amirkhan will go at ends, Herman Kihs, Roger Robinson, tackles, and John Monson and Bob Grubb, guards.

McGrath has primed his team this week to meet Burlingame's main offensive weapon, passing. Panther quarterback Barry Taylor is an adept man with the aerials, and his understudy, Rex Stikes, is touted as even better with the tossing stuff.

"We'll Beat 'EM"

"But we'll beat them if we really play ball," prophesies the Daly City coach.

Last Friday's rout found Honeywell easily maintaining his leadership in PAL total offense as he smashed 20-1 running and passing in the 37-0 victory over the cherokees.

While the Sequoians were trying to watch Honeywell's gridball antics, Jeff's other explosive back, Ron O'Rourke, was chewing off 100 yards on the ground Honeywell had 99 yards rushing, 102 in the air.

Except for the third period, when both coaches cleared the benches, it was a Jefferson contest all the way. The Indians first opportunity came early in the initial quarter on a Sequoia fumble on the Indian 41, which was recovered by Ron Moon.

Ramble All The Way

After the fumble, Jeff rambled all the way, with the TD coming on a 21-yard jaunt between right tackle and end by O'Rourke.

A few minutes later, the Indians marched again, going 45 yards, with a Honeywell to Ron Cryer pass and a later to Casentini eating up 24 yards for the second tally. Grubb booted his only successful conversion of the day, making it 13-0.

Next time the Daly City eleven got possession of the ball, they drove 61 yards in four plays, highlighted by O'Rourke's 32-yard dash to paydirt. It was 19-0.

Eleven plays later the Indians again got the ball, and Honeywell blasted around right end on first down for 47 yards and another six-pointer, which made the score stand at 25-0 at half-time.

Following a scoreless third quarter, the Indian first team reentered the contest, and scored in four plays on a Honeywell to Cloutier pass good for 46 yards, making it 31-0.

A nine-yard scamper by Honeywell later in the quarter ended scoring for Jefferson.

Honeywell had a .500 mark passing, hitting four for eight and 102 yards.

The Jeff quarterback's rushing average was 7.1, while O'Rourke talied up a whopping 10.8. In addition to Funkhouser's 11 yards, other Jeff backs picking up yardage included Dan Miceli, eight; Howard, 21; and Hanson, 19.

Sub backs Ray Vuillemainroy, Miceli and Hanson each hit one pass in their only attempt. Vuillemainroy's went for 22, Miceli's, 18 and Hanson's, 7.

Cloutier was the top receiver for the Daly City club, grabbing three aerials for 62 yards. Cryer had two for 41, Jim Giblin one for 22, and Amirkhan, one for 23.

Jefferson had 12 first downs, against four for the Cherokees.

The Indians had net total yardage of 381, against a meager 78 for the losers.

Hillsdale 10s Upset Jeff, Local 20s Win

Hillsdale 10s basketball club, defeated soundly by Jefferson the first time out, registered a stunning upset last Thursday by topping the local lightweights, 48-43.

The Jeffs redeemed themselves in the 20s contest, as the local five turned in a 57-53 victory.

Wayne Lewis led the Indian 10s with 16 points, followed by Don Miller's 13.

In the 20s tilt, Leroy Franzoia bucketed 18 markers for the winners. Teammates Carl Mecchi and Ino Patron tanked 12 and 10, respectively.

GIRLS SPORTS HELD AT COLMA SCHOOL

A girls sports league has been organized at Colma school for seventh and eighth graders.

The competition is divided into two leagues, American and National. Leaders in the eighth grade league are Vikings of Mr. Simoneini's class, Eagles of Mr. Hough's class, Mrs. Miller's Hornets and Mr. Solley's Midgets.

League leaders in seventh grade are the Rams of Mrs. Mitchell's class, Mrs. Grassonan's Redskins, Miss Biagini's Wildcats and Miss Castillo's Leopards.

The program is under direction of Mrs. Helen Muller.

SLATE SEVEN BOUTS FOR SATURDAY NITE

Seven bouts have been arranged for Saturday night's amateur boxing program at Daly City community center, starting at 8 p.m.

The presentation marks the renewal of the OLPH Men's club monthly boxing program, which was discountinued last spring.

In keeping with the theme of "youth benefit," Chairman Walter Gillies has named Saturday's program "Boy Scout Night." All Cubs and Scouts and their leaders in the Lake Merced district will be admitted free if in Scout uniform.

Headlining the fistic presentation Saturday will be a setto between a pair of light heavyweights, Cisco Rodriguez and Dick Harvey, both of whom were Golden Glove finalists.

There will be three bouts in the 147-pound class, with George Weiner squaring off against Willie Moore, and Louis Vaughn clashing with Rudy Amarillo. Amarillo has made appearances on other OLPH fight programs. Also promising to be a top bout is the welter battle between Joe Virgil and Tony Moss, both undefeated.

At the 150-pound weight, Kid Manuel will take on Eddie Johnson.

An opponent has yet to be named for Henry Berrera, 132-pound Golden Gloves champ from San Jose. Two other bouts also have yet to be arranged.

Gillies said the new Saturday date was an experiment and that success of this initial fall show "would decide the future of amateur boxing in Daly City. If we don't draw enough attendance to realize at least a small profit we'll probably have to abandon the boxing idea."

Last spring the amateur ring shows sometimes drew in excess of 1000 persons. All proceeds, said Gillies, go to youth recreation activities for children of the church.

Tickets are $1.50 for ringside, $1.00 for general admission and 50 cents for children, with exception of the Scouts, who will be admitted free.

In addition to being on sale at the box office, tickets may be purchased at 5799 Mission street.

DC KEG LEAGUE TIGHTENS; LUCE LEAD IS SHAKY

Luce Meat hung precariously to the number one spot in Daly City-Colma Bowling league Tuesday at Brentwood, as they could win only one game from fast-rising San Pedro Lunch.

Luce's one win gave them a 17-10 record and stretched to five weeks their leadership in the circuit.

Vince & Fred inched within one game of first as they pasted Brentwood Bowl twice, to take a 16-11 record.

San Pedro's double win over Luce left the lunch keglers in a tie for third (15-12) with Westlake Homes, who also scored a double win.

P. Purpora, 203-199 games and 564 series, and Herm Kalinin, 500 series, paced San Pedro.

The Luce club salvaged some glory as Tony Barsuglia banged home a 240 game, which ties the season's best rolled earlier in the year by Tony Santos.

Babe De Luca and Lloyd Selmi again led the way for the tavern gang, turning in 562 and 538 series, respectively.

Hank Amstutz, bowling games of 220 and 200 and a 571 series, and Dick Keefer's 549 series showed the way for Westlake in their twin win against Paul's Flowers. Paul's top pin bashers were G. Mutto, 537 series, and B. Rocchetta, 536 trio.

Daly City Cleaners made the evening's only triple sweep, with Starway Cocktails the victim. A. Van Der Werff paced the Cleaners with a 210 game, 504 series. The loss rocked Starway further into the cellar.

Carlos Pizzeria won a pair from Thur Meat as Jim Hovill topped the pizza makers with a 213 game, 532 series. High for Thur were G. Curry, 523 series, and Frank Thur, 217 game, 553 series. Next week starts the second round of play in the local league.

Figures released this week show Otto Schramm holding the season's highest average, 181, with De Lucca runner-up at 177, and Santos third, 174. Also in the top bracket is Dick Keefer, 172.

Golf Tips

By BILL McARTHUR
Professional, Treasure Island Driving Range

HOW DO I GET BACKSPIN?

The average golfer never ceases to marvel at the great amount of action or spin put on a ball when hit on to the green by a good player. How do they make that ball stop so quickly? you ask.

The one sure way all good players know of to get backspin is to hit down at the ball with a good firm stroke and to hit the ball first. This shot only applies when the player is far enough out to hit the ball fairly hard. Say 30 yards out from the green. Usually any shot closer than that cannot have backspin applied to it because the ball is not hit hard enough. When you are close to the green the surest way is to pitch and run the ball.

To get backspin on the ball with short irons play the ball back toward the right foot, and hit down on the ball. Make sure that you have your weight over on your left side so that you don't hit behind the ball. The face of the club is set square or a little closed so that the ball goes into the green fairly low. A high lob shot will more often bounce a great deal. Hitting down at the ball to impart spin applies to all irons not only the short ones, but you don't have to play the ball so far back toward the right foot.

Remember:

Keep your left wrist firm at impact. Any hinge action in the wrists at impact usually results in half topping the ball and so creating a great deal of forward roll on the ball. Hit the ball with a firm stroke and hit the ball first. Above all get to the hole. Give the ball a chance to go in.

Next Week:
Why do I pull the ball?

BOB ROSBURG HERE

Bob Rosburg, one of professional golf's leading money winners this year, will appear here tonight (Friday) at the Treasure Island Golf Driving Range for a clinic and exhibition.

Rosburg will arrive at the local range at 8 p.m.

4th QUARTER TALLY GIVES FROSH 14-7 WIN OVER PANTHERS

Paul Tapia's fourth-quarter interception deep in Jefferson territory saved the day for the local frosh-soph last Thursday and aided materially in their 14-7 victory over Burlingame.

On strength of the win, Coach Tony Giammona's Indians maintained first place in the PAL with five wins, one tie.

With the score knotted, 7-7, in the fourth quarter, Burlingame had driven to the Jeff 18 yard line. On a fourth and one play, the Panther QB passed, and Tapia snared it on the 15, ran it all the way back to the Burlingame 28. With five minutes left on the clock, Sonny Martinez carried for 10 yards around end.

Over For TD

Neil Dunsford bolted loose for 11 yards, then Martinez carried the mail again for six yards. The Jeffs short-gainer specialist Dunsford then went over for the TD from the one yard line. Martinez ran over the extra point.

In the final minute Burlingame threatened after an attempted Tapia pass was grabbed out of his hands on the Indian 40, but time ran out on the Blingums.

The Indians opened up auspiciously as they scored early in the first quarter. After one exchange of kicks, the Indians took over on their own 30. Running from a spread formation, the local club drove straight down the field, with Martinez doing most of the carrying. In five runs Martinez dashed off 49 yards. A short Martinez to Tapia pass netted seven yards, and Dunsford broke loose for 12 on the ground. Martinez then jolted over from two yards away, but the TD was called back and a 15-yard penalty assessed against the Jeffs for holding. On a fourth and 17 situation, the reliable Tapia to Martinez pass combination paid off for six points. Dunsford converted.

Tally In Third

The Panthers taliled ni the third quarter, driving from their own 45. Two passes accounted for most of the yardage and a penalty against the Daly City team brought Burlingame to the eight-yard line, from where they went over. In the previous play Indians' tackle Frank Pitto was thrown out of the game for unnecessary roughness, leaving the squad minus both first string tackles, as Adrian Thompson was lost for the season on the second play of the game when he suffered a broken collarbone. Jim Tedesco and John Finley filled in for the regulars.

Giammona's club met Carlmont yesterday and draws a bye next week, as Hillsdale, scheduled to meet the local team, dropped out of the league.

The Indians only remaining game is with South San Francisco on November 23. By conquering the Warriors and Carlmont, the Indians can annex undisputed first place in the PAL.

"Jumbo" Award Goes At CSM-Modesto Tilt

When College of San Mateo hosts Modesto Junior college in a league grid game this Friday afternoon on the San Mateo High School field, the Charles S. (Jumbo) Morris memorial trophy will be at stake. Modesto now holds the trophy, a large bronze elephant, as result of winning in 1954.

The late Mr. Morris was head of the Modesto Junior College from 1921 to 1931, and president of the local college from 1931 to 1952, the time of his death. While a student at Stanford, he was outstanding in track, and because of his height was known as "Jum" or "Jumbo."

E. A. McAllister of the CSM faculty suggested the idea of the game trophy in memory of the man who had led both colleges, and the elephant was used because of the nickname of "Jumbo." Mrs. Morris donated the elephant, which originally came from the Orient.
